

To our valued guests from the National Association of Corrosion Engineers (“NACE”):

Red Rock Casino, Resort & Spa (“Red Rock”) is excited to host NACE’s 2017 Western Area Conference from October 31-November 3, 2017, and Red Rock appreciates the opportunity to do so.

We feel it is important to share in advance that you may receive correspondence or other communications from representatives of the Culinary Workers Union 226 warning you about potential service disruptions or ongoing labor disputes during the conference being held at Red Rock.

We apologize for any concerns these untrue communications may cause. The Culinary Union has been attempting to unionize our team members for well over a decade; however, during this period no event at Red Rock has been disrupted due to union activities. And we are confident in saying that there will be no issues or disruptions caused by the Culinary Union in the execution of your conference and related events.

My staff and I look forward to welcoming you to Red Rock Casino, Resort & Spa and providing all attendees with a memorable experience.

If you have any questions concerning the Union’s communications or the preparations of the event, please do not hesitate to contact us at (702) 797-7550 or rr.guestservices@stationcasinos.com.

Best Regards,
